COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY AUG. 8, 1922.

NUMBER 42

Well-Known Minister Dead.

Rev. J. H. Riffe, a noted Baptist preacher, who has been preaching in the South for a number of years, died at Mobile, Alabama, a few days ago. He was a brother-in-law of Circuit Court Clerk, C. F. Paxton, of this place. His remains were shipped to Kentucky and he was buried at Cane Valley, Adair county, last Wednesday. He had been the pastor of a number of Churches in the South, and was loved for his godliness. He was well-known in this county, and all adjoining counties Truly, the Church has lost a faithful servant.

Another Oil "Gusher."

Special, Burkesville, Ky. August 5. The McClintock Oil Company and W. S. Raydure, operating jointly on the A. D. Hood farm, Sulphur Creek, ten miles south of town, have just brought in a wonderful well at a depth of 466 feet, with 30 feet of sand. A forty minute bailing test produced twenty barrels without any perceptible lowering of the oil in the well, and it is conservatively estimated as being good for from 300 to 400 barrels daily. This well is known as Hood No. 3, located a short distance from the great Coop well drilled in May, 1921, and is in the midst of a section where some fine strikes are now being made. Hood No. 4, to be drilled by same parties on a nearby location, will be started without delay.

The bride is a splendid woman, one who has many friends. The groom was a widower, 50 years of age, and the bride, who is 48, lost her first husband several years ago. The couple will reside on the groom's farm, and they are now ready to receive their friends.

Persons who have died in the Murray Grave yard are requested to be there next Saturday morning, August 12.

Willis Bailey Dead.

Last Tuesday forenoon the subject of this notice died at his late home, on Jamestown road near the Long View. He had been in bad health for about a year, a victim of creeping paralysis. He was sixty-one years old and was born and reared in Adair county. Some years ago he made a profession of his faith in Christ and united with the Methodist Church. He had two sets of children. Thomas, who lives at Corbin, Ky., got here a few hours before his death, and he was recognized by his father. He is a son by his first wife, and his last wife and five children are living in the home.

The funeral and burial took place at White Oak Church, in the neighborhood where the deceased spent a number of years of his life, and Rev. Jesse L. Murrell, of Columbia, preached the discourse.

There were many friends present to pay their respects to a neighbor and friend. May God comfort all who are grieved on account of this dispensation of Providence.

Tom Bailey wants to thank the people, and especially his late father's neighbors, for the many kindnesses shown in his recent bereavement. All the family join him in this expression

The firm will handle all kinds of produce and poultry, and will do a general wholesale and retail grocery business. Articles of incorporation were signed last week, and the firm is now doing business at the Durham stand. Mr. Durham has been very successful and an enlargement was very necessary to accommodate the fast growing trade. Here is hoping that success attends the corporation.

Killed by Lightning.

Last Wednesday, about the noon hour, Garnett Buckner, a young farmer, about twenty-three years old, was killed by lightning near Keltner, Adair county. He had been at work and came home for dinner. At the time he was struck he was in his residence, holding his little child in his arms. He was killed instantly, but his baby was not hurt. He was a grandson of the late Amos Workman, a son of Charles Buckner, and was born and reared in Green county. It was a distressing blow to his young wife and all other relatives.

HOLY LAND.

Eld. W. G. Montgomery Tells a Columbia Audience What He Saw in the Orient.

THE LECTURE HIGHLY APPRECIATED.

Last Tuesday night the Christian church, this place, was filled with friends to hear Eld. W. G. Montgomery tell the story of his recent travels in the Orient. With a party of friends he visited all the noted places in the Holy Land, naming them, and how they look today. He was at Jerusalem, saw where Christ was crucified and the place where he was laid, Jacob's Well, and many other places we read about in the Bible. His travels in Egypt were of special interest. This visit of Eld. Montgomery will be a great help to him in his ministry, and his trip to the Holy Land was worth the price.

Receiving House Located.

The tobacco people, who have entered the pool, purchased of J. T. Page, last Thursday, an acre and one-half of land this side of the toll-gate for $1,000. Upon this lot the receiving house will be erected, and the work of building it will start soon. It will be a very large building and the work will have to start soon in order to have everything in readiness for the present growing crop of tobacco. The establishing of this house will be a great thing for the business interest of Columbia. It will bring many buyers to this place, hence it will increase all classes of business. Let all the farmers throw up their hats, and shout, "Hurrah for the Receiving House." The whole of this plot of land will be taken up by the main house and a few smaller ones.

Attend the Columbia Fair and enjoy the thoroughbred trotting and pacing.

A Surprise.

Last Tuesday, Aug. 1, Mr. D. J. Comer celebrated his 74th birthday. He was given a surprise dinner by his children and friends. All the children were present but one who lives in Illinois, and a daughter, who lives in Lebanon. The table was loaded with the best of edibles. Mr. Comer received many nice presents. All present seemed to enjoy the day to the utmost. We hope that Mr. Comer may enjoy many more happy birthdays.

Get ready now and take the whole family to the Columbia Fair.

The Greensburg Game.

The Greensburg team defeated, last Saturday, the Goldberg team out of Louisville, 4 to 0. It was the fastest and best amateur game ever played in Kentucky. Cy Barger and Alvin Lewis were the batteries for Greensburg.

The pooling of tobacco continues to grow in Adair county. Over two hundred growers have signed their crops in the last ten days, and the work goes on. Ninety per cent of the farmers of this county will sign. The building of the receiving house is now a settled fact. The pool is the only way to get satisfactory prices for tobacco.

The inventory at Russell & Taylor's drug-store has been taken and G. W. Dillion & Sons are now in charge.

Death of Geo. W. Whitlock.

The people of Columbia were greatly surprised a few days ago, when the news came that Mr. Geo. W. Whitlock, a well-known traveling salesman, had died at his home, in Campbellsville. He was in Columbia about four weeks ago, looking in fairly good health. He had many friends in Adair county. He greeted them with a smile and a warm handshake, and had a good word for everybody. He was fifty-odd years old and was a native of Green county, reared about Lislestown. He had also lived in Adair county, and the intelligence of his death brought sorrow to many who prized him as a dear friend. His death occurred last Sunday night week and the funeral and burial took place on Tuesday following. He was a Mason, a member of Pitman Lodge, and Columbia Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. He was buried with Masonic honors after religious services. He leaves a wife and five children. He was a member of the Baptist Church. The interment was in Broykside Cemetery.

The News extends its sympathy to the surviving members of his family.

A Large Gathering.

Last Thursday not less than sixty persons, relatives and friends, took dinner at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. George Powell, it being the sixty-third anniversary of Mr. Powell, who is one among the best citizens in the Joppa community. It was an elaborate affair. Everything of the best was spread before the large assembly, and he was made happy by receiving a number of nice presents. The preparation of the dinner showed that the material that goes to make up palatable food had been in the hands of those who are skilled in culinary affairs. After dinner a few hours were spent in music, games, and when the hour came to separate all present gave evidence of the pleasure they had experienced in coming together for the day.

Improving Rapidly.

The many friends of Mr. W. R. Lyon, Campbellsville, a native of this place, and a splendid gentleman, who has been away from home, health seeking, will be glad to learn that he has returned and is very much improved. Now, that he is on gaining ground, it is hoped that he will not overtax his constitution, and in a short time will regain what he has lost. Our advice to him is to work less, spend the most of his time away from his business until he is again himself. A healthy body will be worth more to him than anything else. T. W. Buchanan and his brother, R. J. Lyon, will see that the business of the firm will be conducted satisfactorily. Furthermore, his physicians say, as we are informed, that rest is needed—that there is no constitutional trouble, and that there is no good reason why he should not again be active. We hope that the physician's instructions will be obeyed, as Mr. Lyon is needed in the business affairs of life.

UNCLE SAM SAVES ON OFFICE RENTS

Government Is Largest Property
Owner in the United States.

ECONOMY IS THE WATCHWORD

Congress Keeps an Eagle Eye on the Government's Housing Bill—Commission Saves Half-Million in Rents in Three Years.

Washington, D. C.—In the vigorous hunt for more ways of saving a dollar, congress is keeping an eagle eye on the government's housing bill. The government clerk may work in a granite masterpiece of Greek architecture that suggests a large and lavish scale of administration, but the classic edifice is run on a strictly modern, save-the-pennies basis.

The government is the largest property owner in the United States. Besides the great department buildings in Washington, each costing several million dollars, it owns offices all over the country. These include 1,250 post offices, ranging in value from small-town building worth only a few thousand dollars to the Chicago post office, which cost more than $5,000,000.

Economy Becomes Watchword.
Economy is now the watchword in the management of all this property. Take the stucco buildings which sprang up to house the army of war stenographers and filing clerks in the capital. About 40,000 war workers have departed and whole blocks of the "tempo," as the war buildings were called, have been struck like circus tents. But some are needed because Washington still has twice as many clerks as in pre-war days.

The tempo near Potomac park stand on leased land and the lease is about to expire. Furthermore, the owners want a higher rate of rent, and if the government turns the property back to the owners it must tear down its stucco buildings and even pay for the structures that stood on the land when it took possession.

In this dilemma the government finds one satisfactory way out. It can buy the land for $1,500,000, about what three years' rent would cost. Congress is considering this obviously economical measure, and approval is said to be certain. The temporary buildings are regarded as good for several years, and after that the government will still have the land as a site for permanent structures.

Buildings Present Problem.

Across the street from some of these temporary offices is another government problem. Here are two buildings, joined by passageways, which together make the largest office building in the world. They are the Navy and Munitions buildings. They contain 1,700,000 square feet of space and some of the corridors are 1,500 feet long.

These record-breaking office buildings are a bone of contention because they were put up as temporary war structures. They stand firmly enough on government-owned ground, but the land is a part of Potomac park, and the city-planning scheme calls for the removal of the prosaic buildings to develop the park.

The buildings are modern in every respect and are extremely solid for temporary construction. If they had been built across the street on the leased ground which the government is now buying they would have stood unchallenged and serviceable for at least fifteen years to come. They may stand for years as it is. The two buildings together cost more than $7,000,000. They house several thousand workers who would have to be provided for somewhere if the biggest government office unit were scrapped.

Commission Put in Charge.

Economy and the city-beautiful idea are contending over this situation, and economy has the advantage now. Its cause being advanced for the government by a public buildings commission at the capitol. This commission has for its ultimate aim the removal of every government office in Washington from rented building space. The Department of Agriculture, which is housed in 26 different buildings, about half of which are rented, is an example of the problem which confronts the commission.

The public buildings commission is out to save the government money, and it points proudly to the fact that its economy begins at home. It has no crew of stenographers, clerks and messengers. Three years ago when it started it was given an initial appropriation of $10,000 by congress, and it still has $1,000 to its credit in the bank.

In three years it has saved the government more than half a million dollars in rents by moving bureaus out of rented buildings into government-owned offices. Thus the commission notes that the Veterans' bureau personnel is shrinking daily and it finds that there is room in the war risk building for the entire force of the alien property custodian. This official and his staff have been occupying a six-story apartment house at a cost to the government of $30,000 a year rent. The commission arranged with the bureau to move and credits itself with saving the country $30,000.

Lavish Building at an End.

Unless there is a sharp reaction from the present tendency toward efficiency and economy there will be no more elaborate monumental effects in department buildings. Sixteen-foot ceilings, fireplaces, thick walls and laboriously-carved room decorations such as are seen about the state, war and navy building, and other early government edifices, are conspicuously absent from recent government construction.

An example of the old-style ponderousness which characterized the first federal buildings is found in the granite pillars on the treasury facade. These huge pillars were quarried in Maine and shipped to Washington on sailing vessels. It took 18 oxen and eight horses to carry each of them to the building. Time was no obstacle in those days. Seventeen years were spent in constructing the state, war and navy building. The new navy and munitions buildings were run up in five and a half months.

The state, war and navy building cost $10,000,000 at a time when labor was cheap. The new buildings average about $3,000,000. They have Ionic and Doric columns and they are shinglingly white, but they are distinctly businesslike in appearance. They suggest, rather than imitate, Athens and old Europe.

Post Office to Be Plainer.

It is probable that the day of the beautiful, be-columned marble post office is past. Since 1913 there has been no public buildings bill to provide at one time several hundred post office buildings for the country. These bills had very little to do with economy. It was not uncommon for a town of a few thousand souls which was represented by a live congressman, to win a $40,000 post office. Each congressman voted for the appropriation bill because it contained some item in which he was interested and to disapprove of any clause was to ditch the whole measure.

Congress was criticised for this sort of pork legislation. The most successful post office getters retorted that a federal building of beauty and dignity was an inspiration to the citizens of a town, and that from that point of view it was a worth-while investment. The European war put a stop to such argument and to the marble-front post offices.

A few post offices are still being constructed from the provisions of the 1913 bill, but no construction work for the government is being done in Washington. Nor is there much prospect of any new government buildings for a year or more. The important archives building waits only for the word of congress.

Two recent fires in the treasury have shown that the old buildings are not invulnerable, and that documents of great value stored in them are far from safe. But economy is rampant and it will doubtless be many months before congress can be persuaded to spend money for a building program, even to insure the safety of the national records.

FOOD PRICES SHOW INCREASE

Department of Labor Report Shows
Jump in 15 Cities and Lower Prices in Only Ten.

Washington.—Retail food prices increased in 15 cities and decreased, slightly in ten others from April 15 to May 15, according to compilation made public by the Department of Labor involving 25 of the principal cities of the country.

The following increases were noted: Richmond, Va., 2 per cent; Atlanta, Baltimore, Birmingham, Butte, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Norfolk, Philadelphia, Savannah, Seattle, St. Louis and Washington, D. C., 1 per cent, and Chicago and Omaha, less than five-tenths of 1 per cent. Decreases were noted in Newark, 2 per cent; Boston, Fall River, Kansas City, Rochester, 1 per cent, and in Detroit and New York less than five-tenths of 1 per cent.

Comparisons of average food costs in 1913, with the prevailing prices asked during the month, the department stated, indicated housewives were paying 53 per cent more for food in Richmond, Va.; 49 per cent in Washington, D. C., and 44 per cent in Baltimore and Birmingham, Ala.

MONKEY VICTIM OF FASHION

Demand of Paris Women for Fur
Threatens Extinction of Animals.

Washington.—Fashion's demand for monkey fur threatens the extermination of Abyssinian monkeys, according to a report to the Commerce department from Aden, Arabia.

The dictates of la mode, particularly in Paris, the report said, have exerted a strong demand for black and white Abyssinian monkey skins to be used for trimmings. As a result the mortality is high among that variety and shows no tendency of abatement.

The supply of skins is very limited. It was added, and not more than 15,000 or 20,000 can be obtained in a year without exterminating the monkey.

Tree That Grew Apples Now Produces Cherries

A tree that produced apples last year and is filled with cherries this year, is the unusual sight on the William Bagley farm, near Onancock, Del. The tree was one of several purchased from a nursery, and was bought for an apple tree. In every appearance it is an apple tree. Last year it bore for the first time three fine apples. This year the tree is filled with cherries and not a sign of an apple.

None Found Dissatisfied.

The West Virginians will report their findings to their fellow growers on their return home. The unanimity of view of the Kentucky growers in regard to cooperative marketing made a profound impression on the visitors, all of whom are farmers and growers of tobacco, whose purpose in coming to Kentucky was to learn at first hand and directly from the growers themselves how the new system of handling tobacco has worked and whether the growers are satisfied with it.

All said that they did not find a single dissatisfied member of the Burley Association, and that, though they had come to Lexington to remain several days they thought that any further stay was a waste of time, so far as obtaining any additional information was concerned, their experience in this respect being like that of the delegation recently sent by the dark tobacco growers of Tennessee to Kentucky for the same purpose.

Things may not be the best; they may not even be good, and yet we may like them because we are used to them, which isn't a very good excuse for their existence. And so, if it takes an outsider to wake us up with a well-aimed criticism, we can not afford to be finicky about his remarks. Kindly or otherwise, his hints may be useful. Let's ask our neighbors what they think of our town and why they think it. We ought to get some valuable suggestions and an open mind is never at fault.

Colds & Headache

"For years we have used Black-Draught in our family, and I have never found any medicine that could take its place," writes Mr. H. A. Stacy, of Bradyville, Tenn. Mr. Stacy, who is a Rutherford County farmer, recommends Black-Draught as a medicine that should be kept in every household for use in the prompt treatment of many little ills to prevent them from developing into serious troubles.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

"It touches the liver and does the work," Mr. Stacy declared. "It is one of the best medicines I ever saw for a cold and headache. I don't know what we would do in our family if it wasn't for Black-Draught. It has saved us many dollars. . . . I don't see how any family can hardly go without it. I know it is a reliable and splendid medicine to keep in the house. I recommend Black-Draught highly and am never without it." At all druggists.

Simply An Outrage.

Congressman Langley, of the Tenth Kentucky district informs his friends in Louisville "over the telephones" from Washington that he has prepared a bill creating a Third Federal judicial district in Kentucky, and at once the announcement is made at Frankfort that the plum, if created, will go to Gov. Edwin P. Morrow.

This is simply outrageous. There is not a lawyer in Kentucky who does not know that there is not enough Federal court business in Kentucky to keep the two judges we now have busy. One Federal judge, working as busy lawyers or merchants or farmers or newspaper men have to, could handle the Kentucky business, and handle it well. But we have two Federal districts in the State and two judges. That situation may not be changed; it is working, on the whole, satisfactorily. The people will be content to support the two courts, but to create a third court simply to provide a few jobs for a handful of incurable place hunters would degrade the Federal judiciary in the estimation of the people of Kentucky.

As a matter of fact the reputation of American courts, including our Federal courts, is sinking fast. Why? For the simple reason that judgeships have been used and are being used as political spoil. Two men offer for one court. That court may not be needed, but only one of the two men can get it. He gets it, and then the spoilsman proceeds to create another useless court in order to provide a salary for another job hunter.

So far as Governor Morrow is concerned, we do not see why he cannot wait until some vacancy is created before he goes after another office. The governor is most persistence, however, in tracking office. And that is, no doubt, the chief reason for the failure of his administration. From the day he assumed office at Frankfort the Governor has been casting his eyes about for another office.

We hope this bill will not pass. It cannot possibly pass without the support of the Kentucky Senators, and the people will hold them responsible if they assist in turning the Federal judiciary into a pie counter. For the people of Kentucky the flash of light in a dark night. Surely we could have no stronger proof than this of the advisability of succeeding Mr. Morrow by a Governor who does not want and will not take another office.—Louisville Post.

The Chain Letter

One of the most childish bits of superstition to which the adult mind is prey is the so-called "chain-letter." All who receive these letters are enjoined to send similar ones to nine friends within twenty-four hours. At the end of nine days if you have been an obedient link in the chain, you are told you may expect some good fortune. If you refuse to be annoyed bad luck is promised you.

So widespread is this silly custom that Dr. Herbert Work, Postmaster General, in behalf of the mail service, has issued an appeal to the common sense of the people not to clutter up the mail with such matter. Thousands of dollars in postage stamps, white paper and time are wasted in receiving, pondering and broadcasting the chain-letters, to say nothing of the puerility of the whole proceeding.

Those who insist upon casting charms upon their lives, inviting the smile of Destiny and the Wink of Fate, have enough devices handed down from the days of savagery to satisfy them with troubling their friends. Let them carry rabbits' feet, buck-eyes and horseshoes. Let them avoid black cats and horseshoes. Let them never break mirrors. Let them perform with due solemnity the salt ritual. Let them do anything that will forestall the avalanche of chain-letters upon prosy persons who do not care to court their luck. Courier Journal.

Some people never hand in an item of news for publication, but if we happen to miss an item in which they are interested they are sure to hand us a north pole star that would freeze the liver of a polar bear.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION.

The primary passed off very quietly in Adair county and a very light vote was polled. In the 29 precincts in Adair, the Democrats who voted cast their suffrage almost solidly for Hobson L. James for Judge of the Court of Appeals. But few Republicans voted between Kincaid and Hubbard, candidates for Congress. The total vote each candidate received is as follows:

James,	742
McCandless,	23
Kincaid	54
Hubbard,	161

We have not heard from all the 23 counties in the district, but the reports that have come in shows that the Appellate race will be very close.

Lloyd George, in an address at London, a few days ago, stated that the League of Nations is vital to prevent another war.

Charles W. Bryan, of Lincoln, Nebraska, has just been nominated by the Democrats of his State for Governor. It is an honor that Mr. Bryan has heretofore sought. He is a brother of W. J. Bryan.

Jas. A. Reed has been renominated in Missouri for United States Senator. He has been a disturbing element in the Democratic party for several years, but his home people will vote for him. A man who is never in line with his party, should be given a set-back.

Little hope is entertained for an early settlement of the railroad strike. The head officials refused to accede to the terms laid down by President Harding, and the general opinion is that they acted wisely. The proposition was all for the goose and nothing for the gander. The officials want to do the right thing, but do not want to surrender their business to the strikers.

The Ku Klux Klan is taking an active part in politics. They figured largely in the last Democratic primary in Texas, and at this time they are very much interested in the Democratic primary for Governor in Oklahoma.

The Governor of Tennessee was asked by the Governor of Kentucky to send troops to the Tennessee line in Bell county, Ky., and Claiborne county, Tennessee, to assist in maintaining order.

President Poincare, of France, Lloyd George, of England, have been notified that they are in danger of being assassinated by a lot of Germans toughs. Whenever that is done something else will follow. Germany will be hollowing, "comrade."

Readable Letter.

West Point, Miss., Aug. 4, '22
Editor News:—

It has been several months since I contributed to your columns, save a personal letter you published a short time ago, but with so many things to attend to in the busy season the average man will fail to use some of the privileges he should enjoy and I make no claims of being different to the general average in this respect. It has only been a short time since your Russell Creek correspondent called for a letter from me and since it is a pleasure to meet any of his reasonable requests, I am now trying to deliver the goods. We are having seasonable weather and crops of all kinds are good. I have been over considerable territory in this state within the last month and every where I have been abundant crops of every thing grown in this state are in evidence. This week I made a trip to Chickasaw county which joins this county on the northwest, and I never saw finer corn and cotton in any country and especially corn. I attended a meeting in that county its object being to develop oil. Over a year ago a company was formed and a hole was made over 1,800 feet, when some trouble in the well forced an abandonment of it, and the company being without funds, dropped out entirely. The driller employed removed his rig a few feet and proceeded on his own money to put down a well believing in it being a good bet for his money. He is an experienced oil man and confidently expects to drill in a good well in the near future. He is now down 1,835 feet. Sufficient money was raised by the sale of leases and subscriptions to carry on the work for a few more weeks and it need not be a surprise to hear from this well being a good one. The driller says that he has never had a more flattering prospect in any field, judging from what he has gone through. When the drill hung in the first hole considerable gas was encountered, and it is his opinion that had he been able to have gone a little deeper a good well would have resulted. I know nothing about the indications except what others tell me, but with an unwavering report from Geologists of reputation and from the driller who has been successful in many of the great producing fields, I fully believe the completion of this well will put this state on the oil map of the country.

The hay proposition in this section keeps us busy. Two crops of alfalfa has been saved and the third is now ready. Johnson grass was fine and most of it was saved in No. one condition and the second crop is about ready for the mower. The third crop of alfalfa is just about a half crop due to hot and dry weather. Alfalfa started at $22 but dropped to $16. Johnson dropped from $14 to $12. The first crop of alfalfa averaged about $20 per acre and in some instances better. It is a safe count to expect from $40 to $60 net per acre from good alfalfa and Johnson will almost pay as well. I have never seen any country the equal of this for grass and it is my judgment that the young man who will settle on cattle and hay farming here will become independent in a few years. One of my neighbors sold $2,000 worth of hay from his first cutting of alfalfa which was taken from near a hundred acres and the entire expense from standing grass to loaded cars was less than $500. Another did as well on same acreage and another has put in to bale over 30 tons of red clover hay from 12 acres and another crop is now on the way. This is the haynest country I ever hayed in. Again vegetables of all kinds have been abundant and fruits are fine. My peach and plum trees planted two years ago, were loaded with as fine specimens of their kind I ever saw. Melons have been in for some time and they are as good as grow anywhere. I am not a melon grower, but if I had some of my old neighbors here, who claim to know how to produce them I would show them that it does not take expert knowledge to produce them in this country. Our lands have the right kind of push and we only have to bring the seed in contact with the soil to get the most desirable results. I have as fine as I ever saw and plenty of them and not a thing put under them. I have never had as fine garden as we have this year. To make a long story short will say that our productive latitude is as broad as any country I ever saw and that means that we can produce every thing we desire and in less time than any place I have ever been. To my friend, Russell Creek Correspondent, by reference to the map of Mississippi you will observe that West Point is on the eastern slope of the state and drained by the Tombigbee that discharges its waters in Mobile bay. By measurement you will readily see that it is over 100 miles due east of some place on The Father of Waters and while no mountains intervene yet a chain of hills stand as a barrier against any wild caperings of that great river and should it ever cross over to the Prairie, Russell Creek would inundate the Public square of Columbia. The one is as probable as the other is possible. I give you these facts to relieve you from any fears that you may have concerning the welfare of your friends from Adair, who have staked their claims in this state. If you could only see the delta of this state—that part protected by the Levee, see its wonderful crops, its inexhaustible fertility and its millions of acres, then cross the low hilly country and into the Prairie section, I feel certain that you would say that The Maker of the universe gave the Sunny South her full share of good earth. In justice to my old State, and, it is a good one, one I am always ready to defend as best I can when any insinuation of inferiority may be cast at it, I tell you that it does not outclass in productive powers this commonwealth. We have the desirable lands, but we need more people. I notice of late that chicken thieves have been doing some work in your section. I regret that such conduct should occur anywhere but so it is. West Point has a population of 5,000 and judging it by conduct it is in a class by its self. No chicken raids are made and the legger and shiner have no place of business here. We have been here over three years and

THIS closes triumphantly the author's remarkable series of novels of American life. It is particularly appropriate that it goes back to the romantic origins of the people so happily celebrated in Fox's mountain stories. It had long been in his mind to show the sturdy pioneers.

Erskine Dale, raised among the Indians, though of Virginia blue blood, is a splendid type of the people and the time—the days immediately preceding and during the Revolutionary war.

It is a thrilling story of love and battles, setting forth much of the history of the period, particularly the campaigns of George Rogers Clark against Indians and British in the West and the defense of Virginia against Tarleton and Cornwallis.

Death of Garnett Morris

About two weeks ago Garnett Morris, very well known in this city, came from Kansas City to visit at the W. I. McNew home, and last Friday was taken seriously sick—the end came at 3 o'clock Monday morning. He had been in poor health because of paralysis for some months.

The funeral services took place at 11 a. m., Tuesday, July 4th, at the Christian Church, conducted by Mrs. C. E. Fritts, the pastor, and the burial took place at McBee Chapel cemetery, where a son and other members of the family were buried.

James Garnett Morris was born at Columbia, Kentucky, November 27, 1862, died at Braymer, Mo., July 3rd, 1922, age 59 years, 7 months and 6 days.

He was married to Helena Emma Ora White, Nov. 28, 1888. To this union were born five children, three boys and two girls. His wife and two sons, James Curtis and Virgil White have preceded him in death. One son, Walter Ray Morris, 1312 Stewart Ave. Kansas City, Kansas, and two daughters, Mrs. Maude Mae Tedrow, of 1964 N 27th street, and Mrs. Theresa Ida Pepperdine, of 2719 North 22nd street, Kansas City, Kansas, and five grandchildren, survive.

One brother, Milan R. Morris, of Midvale, Idaho, and one sister, Mrs. Mollie E. Rosenbaum, of Braymer, Mo., are also living.

He was converted at the age of 27 years, and joined the Baptist Church. He lived an upright honorable life, and in death he is most deeply mourned by those who knew him best.—Braymer, Missouri paper.

CHARGE PLOT IN RAIL CAR FIRE

Strikers or Sympathizers Accused of Firing Freight Cars in Chicago Yards.

PUTS BLAME ON LABOR BOARD

Chief of the Strikers Declares Men Have Signified Willingness to Confer But Peace Overtures Were Ignored.

Chicago, July 8.—A plot to burn hundreds of freight cars in the yards of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the Chicago manufacturing district was charged by J. C. Molter, chief agent for the road, after flames had partly wrecked one of a string of cars standing on a siding. Prompt arrival of the firemen prevented a spread of the fire.

"The work of strikers or sympathizers," Molter said. "If the fire had not been promptly checked it would have spread to hundreds of cars and the loss would have been appalling."

Blames Labor Board. Responsibility for the further continuation of the strike of the 400,000 railroad men and the resultant consequences, was placed directly up to the United States Railway Labor Board and railway executives by B. M. Jewell, head of the strikers.

The strikers, through their leaders, Jewell pointed out, have signified their willingness to meet in conference with authorized representatives with the view of settling the strike. These peace overtures, the strike leader asserted, have been ignored, both by the railway executives and the labor board.

"Much has been and can be said," declared Jewell, "regarding the necessity for a speedy settlement of the strikers' controversies and their return to work."

"Let it be remembered now and for all time that notwithstanding the fact that we have been and are now willing to meet anyone authorized to advance a proposal or settlement, that no such proposal has been forthcoming."

The shop crafts have for more than two years done everything that reasonable men with reasonable human intelligence could think of to avoid the situation with which they are now confronted and into which they were forced as a last resource. We have exercised a consistent desire and willingness to meet with responsible authorities, and our expressed desires have met with no response.

"Since the responsibility for the further continuance of this strike, which shall continue to a successful conclusion is theirs and not ours."

Ask Militia in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Nebr., July 8.—Mobilization of state troops for strike duty was requested of Gov. S. R. McKelvie by county and city officers from several Nebraska towns where railroad shops are reported to be preparing to attempt cooperation with strikebreakers.

Union headquarters reported they had received word that several carloads of strikebreakers are enroute to Nebraska shop towns and will be ordered to different plants if guard mobilization is ordered.

Guard Mobilized. State, Mo., July 8.—Although the railroad strike situation remained quiet here, it was reported that national guard troops at Loonville and Warrensburg, near here, had been mobilized and were in readiness to be sent to this city on short notice.

Militia Being Held.

Springfield, Ill., July 8.—The strike situation at Decatur apparently has quieted down and unless there are reports of renewed violence in connection with the strike of Wabash railroad men there the state troops now mobilized will not be dispatched to that place. This advice came from Col. Frank L. Taylor of the adjutant general's office.

The three hundred militiamen will be held at their armories until further notice.

Damage Airbrakes.

New York, July 8.—Airbrake connections were smashed and put out of commission on 40 passenger coaches of the West Shore Railroad at Dumont, N. J., although guards were on duty in the yards. The act was alleged to have been done by striking employees.

BOSS SENTENCED TO DIE

HARDING TO TAKE DRASTIC STEPS

Immediate Resumption of Coal Mining Operations Being Considered by the President.

INDUSTRIES FACE SHORTAGE

Cabinet Member Says President Will Have New Offer to Make to the Bituminous Miners—Fall Has Hopes.

Washington, July 8.—With big industries in many parts of the country running headlong into a coal shortage resulting from the mine strike, cabinet officials predicted that President Harding would lose no time upon his return to Washington to take drastic steps leading to an immediate resumption of mining operations.

Reports to the Department of Commerce describe severe fuel shortages in New England and the Northwest, while from other sections come information which convinces those in touch with the industrial situation that it will be necessary for the federal government to step into the breach between the operators and miners with more force than has characterized previous efforts to end the strike.

To Make New Offer. One member of the cabinet said President Harding would have a new offer to make to the bituminous section of the national coal conference when it resumed its deliberations on Monday.

It was pointed out, however, in administration and congressional circles that there are only two ways to end the strike now open to the government. These are:

Arbitration or the taking over of the mines.

While the miners continued informal conversations with respect to the government strike-ending efforts, the anthracite operators and miners again went into secret session to resume their still unfruitful wage negotiations.

Secretary of the Interior Fall, who is representing the President in the hard coal negotiations, believes the two groups in this controversy are not as far apart as they imagine.

53 Days' Supply on Hand.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced that a survey of coal stocks in the hands of public utilities, including electric light and gas companies, showed 53 days' supply on hand on June 15.

Hoover said public utilities are obtaining regular supplies of coal from non-union mines. The survey, he said, embraced the entire country and included all important public utilities.

Shipments of non-union coal from West Virginia have been practically stopped by the strike of shopmen on the Norfolk and Western railroad in that state. Wm. H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, declared.

DARING DAYLIGHT HOLDUP

Two Armed Men Rob Messenger in Montreal of $29,000 Payroll and Make Escape.

Montreal, Can., July 8.—The most daring daylight holdup in years was pulled off on St. James street in the heart of Montreal's financial section at 11 o'clock, when two armed men backed the messenger of the Dominion Textile company into a little cul de sac and took from him the company's payroll of $29,000 at the point of guns.

The messenger had just come from the bank and was on his way back to the office when two unmasked men stuck their guns into his ribs and ordered him into the lane. Thousands of people were passing at the time. The whole thing only took a few seconds. The thugs escaped.

VIOLENCE FOLLOWS RAILROAD STRIKE

ILLINOIS TROOPS PREPARED TO QUELL DISORDERS—CALLS IN OTHER STATES

The Unions, Railroads And Labor Boards Stand Firm In Their Attitude Toward The Walkout—"Employees Not To Be Driven Back," Declares Labor Chief.

Chicago.—The first week of the strike of railway shopmen ended with sporadic violence reported in widely scattered sections of the country, troops held in readiness to quell trouble in Illinois and soldiers requested in other states and union officials, railroad executives and the United States Railroad Labor Board standing firm in the position each assumed when the walkout was started July 1.

The attitude of the federated shop crafts was indicated when B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor, issued a statement disclaiming any further responsibility for continuation of the strike and holding the railroads and the Labor Board to blame for the length of time the walkout lasts.

"Those who complain because the railway shop strike has not been settled should understand that the men have been forced out much against their will," his statement said. The strike has been in progress one week, notwithstanding the fact that we, by every means available to us, have made it known that conference was desired with any responsible person authorized to negotiate a settlement or that any proposal by any person properly authorized would be considered carefully, no movement has been made by other parties to bring about a settlement. The striking employees are not to be driven back. They are asking only for justice and will not submit willingly to less."

Ben W. Hooper, Chairman of the labor board, issued an individual statement in which he asserted that "the only feasible way" for the shop crafts organization to end the strike was to follow in the footsteps of the maintenance of way organization, whose officers appeared before the board and agreed to postpone their strike pending further negotiations.

CRIME CLUE FOUND

Receipt For $18,000 Is New Angle In Murder Case—Distillery And Warehouse Seized

Louisville, Ky.—Simultaneously with the seizure at Lawrenceburg by Government representatives of the Bond Bros. Distillery and the Paxton Company warehouse, Chief of Detectives De Forester, of Louisville, announced a new clue in the murder of John Thomas, 32 years old, Louisville—the finding of a receipt for $18,000 near the scene of the murder.

Another angle to the investigation was the inquiry being conducted at Covington by M. C. Bane, Chief Field Deputy in the office of Robert H. Lucas, Collector of Internal Revenue, into the theft of 189 barrels of whisky from the Paxton warehouse within the last two weeks.

The receipt was found by Anderson County officers investigating the slaying of Thomas and the removal of whisky from the warehouse. The nature of the receipt was not disclosed.

Radio Aids Detectives.

New York.—Radio aided detectives in the capture of Isidor Nathan, who was brought to New York from Albany, where he was arrested. Nathan, who is accused of having taken $80,000, was located in an Albany department store, where, it is said, he was attempting to dispose of $10,000 in jewelry. New York authorities had heard that he was attempting to escape to Europe. Radio messages were broadcast, and in a few minutes word was received that he had been arrested.

Will Use Mail Planes

Chicago.—Interest estimated at $100,000 a month, will be saved the bankers of New York and Chicago through the use of mail airplanes, it was stated. Colonel Paul Henderson, Second Assistant Postmaster General, told Chicago bankers that the postoffice department has completed plans for the rapid transmission of money by mail. "The $100,000 in interest lost every month while large sums of money are in transit between Chicago and New York will be saved."

Would Lease Road

Detroit, Mich.—Henry Ford has offered to lease that part of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad extending between Banner Fork and Corbin, Ky., and from Corbin to Cincinnati, and operate it with the present force of railway employees, "that coal may be moved to Detroit." It became known that Mr. Ford made the offer to the President of the Louisville and Nashville after the railroad company had informed him it was unable to move 8,000 cars of coal consigned to Detroit industries because of labor troubles.

A Warning of Lincoln.

What constitutes the bulwark of our own liberty and independence? It is not our frowning battlement, our bristling sea-coasts, our army and navy. They are not our reliance against tyranny. All of these may be turned against us without making us weaker for the struggle. Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the spirit which prizes liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere. Destroy this spirit and you have planted the seeds of despotism at your own doors. Familiarize yourself with the chains of bondage, and you prepare your own limbs to wear them. Accustomed to trample on the rights of others, you have lost the genius of your own independence and become the fit subjects of the first cunning tyrant who rises among you.—Abraham Lincoln.

Why Not, Anyway.

It frequently happens that one person gives of his blood to another in order to save the life of a person who is hovering on the borderland of another world. That is considered praiseworthy. Recently a very rich man, seeking a renewal of his youth, submitted to the new method of transplantation of glands in an effort to restore his vigor. That was deemed foolish. The daily press of his city seized upon the opportunity to create a sensation, jumped to the conclusion that the transplanted gland was taken from another person for a consideration, and heralded the operation broadcast. The rich man brings suit for libel. Foolish editors. Blind millionaire. Instead of leading their readers to a higher plane of citizenship through the publication of news and comment of material value, many editors seem to have an eye single to the sensational side of life, thereby hoping to increase the circulations of their papers.

Instead of ignoring the articles in a dignified manner and allowing the subject to die out amidst newer and fresher sensations, some men of great wealth imagine that they can muzzle the press of an entire city through the filing of libel suits. They simply add fuel to the fire, and furnish food for juicier comment. If a man wants to renew his youth and has the money to pay for it, that is his business, and only a meddlesome press will go beyond a legitimate statement of fact.

Some day all humanity will be prolonging life as a result of such achievements in the realm of medical and surgical science, and we will neither laugh nor jeer.

Even sensation loving editors may be submitting to the operation as a means of escaping the devil to the last possible day. Who knows, anyway.

Be an expert at one thing and the world will forgive you for what you don't know about the rest.

FREE STATE MEN TRAP DE VALERA

Surrounded in Hills in Southern Dublin County at Head of Band of Rebels.

CATHAL BRUGHA DEAD, REPORT

Dublin Is Quickly Resuming Normal Life—700 Irregulars Held Prisoner by Free Staters—Inch Fort Under Siege.

London, July 8.—It is reported that Eamonn de Valera and Erskine Childers, with the Irish rebel followers, have been surrounded in the hills in the southern part of Dublin county, said a Dublin dispatch to the Evening News.

A Central News dispatch from Dublin said that Cathal Brugha, chief aid to De Valera, had died of his wounds in Mater hospital. Brugha was wounded in the fighting at Dublin Wednesday night.

Free State troops were victorious in a three-hour battle with irregulars at Boyle, according to a Dublin dispatch to the Star.

Blessington, near the border of County Wicklow and County Dublin, has been captured from the irregulars by Free Staters. Early reports put De Valera in that district.

Five British warships have dropped anchor in Cork harbor. Cork has now succeeded Dublin as the hotbed of rebellion against the Irish provisional government.

Dublin Back to Normal.

Dublin, July 8.—Although there was desultory sniping throughout Dublin the city is quickly resuming normal life. Hundreds of youths are responding to Michael Collins' call for volunteers, and are enlisting in the regular army for six months' active service against the rebels in the provinces.

An unconfirmed report is in circulation that Eamonn de Valera, commander-in-chief of the republican irregulars, has been wounded. De Valera is understood to be near Blessington, in the northern part of County Wicklow, at the head of a band of rebels.

More than 700 irregulars are held prisoner here by the Free Staters. The campaign against the irregulars outside of Dublin is now in full swing. Regulars are rounding up guerrilla bands in the hills of Dublin county.

The Free Staters now claim control of County Roscommon, County Longford, East Mayo, County Westmeath and County Sligo.

Irregulars who were defeated in a sharp engagement at Delvin, fled to Boyle in County Roscommon, where they made a stubborn stand, but were dispersed.

Officers of the Irish provisional government are well satisfied with the situation, but admit that it may take some time to restore national tranquility through the suppression of guerrilla bands in all parts of the country.

As the volunteers enlist they are being sent to training camps for a period of intensive preparation for field duty.

Fort Under Siege.

Belfast, July 8.—Irish Free State regulars have begun an encircling movement against Inch fort, in County Donegal, which had been seized by rebels, according to information from the "front." The fort is under siege and Free State officers believe that they will soon be in control.

LILLIPUT SHIP SAILS OCEAN

Liner Sights Four-Foot Model, All Sails Set, in Atlantic, Says Captain.

Boston, July 8.—A four-foot model of a full-rigged ship, with all sails set, is heading across the Atlantic in the general direction of Ireland, according to Capt. Thomas B. Jago of the Leyland liner Caledonian, which has arrived here from Manchester and Liverpool. Captain Jago reported that he sighted the strange craft Tuesday morning 85 miles off Sable Island.

When sighted the model was making about five knots an hour with a spanking westerly wind on its quarter, Captain Jago said. He examined it through his glasses, but could not discover any identifying marks. The Caledonian's officers believe that the little vessel was being used in some sort of ocean experiment.

SWORDFISH BEATS A WHALE

Terrific Marine Battle Off California Coast Lasts More Than Half an Hour.

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—An unusual disturbance in the ocean off Point Sur, below Monterey, Cal.—a battle between a whale and a swordfish—was reported by Frank McDonald, custodian of the custom house here. After a battle lasting more than a half hour the swordfish was victorious, McDonald said.

Workers Idle From U. S. Strikes Total 1,250,000

Washington, July 8.—More than 1,250,000 workers are idle in the United States, officials of the Department of Labor estimate.

Four strikes of major importance are in progress. They are:

Coal miners—400,000 bituminous and 200,000 anthracite.
Railroad shopmen—400,000.
Textile workers, New England—80,000.

Garment workers, New York city—From 10,000 to 20,000.

Officials said it was impossible to calculate the amount of money lost to workers and to industry because of the strikes.

CLOTURE TURNED DOWN

Senate Votes Against Restricting Debate on Tariff.

Vote Was Strictly Along Party Lines With Five Republicans Voting Against Motion.

Washington, July 8.—The demand of the administration leaders that the McCumber tariff bill be speeded up by limiting debate on the measure was turned down flatly by the senate.

A motion by Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip, to adopt a cloture rule, was defeated. The vote was 45 to 35.

A majority voted in favor of cloture, but a two-thirds vote is required under the rules before debate can be restricted on any legislation.

The vote was strictly along party lines with five Republicans swinging their support against the motion. The only surprise in the voting was when Senator Johnson, Republican, California, voted in favor of cloture. Johnson had refused to sign the cloture petition but he announced that because of his support of the tariff bill, he would be compelled to support the administration move.

The five Republicans voting against cloture were Borah of Idaho, Brandegee, Connecticut; La Follette, Wisconsin; Moses, New Hampshire, and Norris, Nebraska. There were 30 Democrats voting and everyone opposed cloture.

FOOD PRICES ARE GOING UP

Department of Labor Notes an Increase in 18 Cities in United States.

Washington, July 8.—Food prices in the United States are going up again, the Department of Labor announced. During the period from May 15 to June 15, there was an increase in 18 cities, ranging from three per cent in New York, Pittsburgh and Newark to less than five-tenths of one per cent in Washington, D. C., and Portland, Maine.

In Manchester, New Hampshire, Norfolk, Virginia and Providence, R. I., retail food prices decreased less than five-tenths of one per cent. An increase of two per cent was noted in Chicago, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Milwaukee, and Rochester, N. Y., while in Baltimore, Dallas, Fall River, New Haven, Philadelphia, Richmond and Scranton the increase amounted to one per cent.

CANADA FACES RAIL STRIKE

Hornworms Raid Tobacco Plants

Tobacco growers are facing the annual task of ridding their plants of hornworms, recognized as the worst insect pest of the crop in Kentucky, according to H. H. Jewett, entomologist at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. The adults, or moths, appear from the first week in June to about the middle of August while the maximum number of worms are apparent in the field about August 15, he said. The worms are so destructive that tobacco could not be grown successfully without the use of control measures for them, he added.

Hand worming cannot be relied upon to keep tobacco free from the worms even with the most careful examination of each plant while Paris Green, which formerly was used quite extensively to kill the pests, is giving way to arsenate of lead. The latter material adheres to the plants longer than does Paris Green and therefore is more effective while it rarely injures the plants even when an excessive amount is used. This material has an added advantage in that it can be used during periods of unsettled or rainy weather.

The arsenate of lead is applied to the tobacco by means of a dust gun. The old style guns are being replaced by those with fans ten inches or more in diameter and having special devices for preventing clogging at the outlet. Where it is necessary to use an old style gun, the arsenate should be mixed with an equal bulk of sifted wood ashes. The dusting should be done when there is no breeze, either in the morning when the dew is on the plants or in the evening. An active operator can dust several acres in a day.

Under average conditions from three to five pounds of the arsenate an acre is sufficient for one dusting. At least two dustings should be made while a third is sometimes necessary. Where it is necessary to apply the poison as a spray, because of the lack of dusting apparatus, from three to five pounds of the arsenate should be used to 100 gallons of water. Brands of arsenate of lead containing at least 30 per cent arsenate oxid, of which not more than one per cent is free or water soluble, should be used.

People who write things which they would like to see printed in a newspaper, should bear in mind that what they write as their personal opinion should be gathered by them, and when they write stuff that is not fit for them to attach their names to it should never be printed. Remember the rule of all decent newspapers and you will never have occasion to put on the shoe. This is the rule which we give in all kindness. Never ask a newspaper to do anything you are ashamed to do yourself.

The farmer actually pays a premium for bad roads. He pays in the time expended in getting to town and in the wear and tear on his vehicles. Contrary to some peoples opinion good roads are not for the benefit of the motor tourist. They are not the farmer's hardship. On the contrary they are his greatest blessing.

Our friend John Hughes of Edmonton, spent a few days of last week visiting his brother, Mr. James T. Hughes, who is recovering from a spell of sickness. Mr. Hughes reports fine prospects in his section for both corn and tobacco. In fact everything is looking good for the farming class of people. We were all glad to see Mr. Hughes as he was reared in this community and is one of the old time Democrats. Mr. Hughes and your reporter cast their suffrage for the first time the same year, and we are glad that we have not departed from the faith.

The Sewing Circle.

There is probably not a member of the circle who does not have occasion to use gingham. Gingham frocks and aprons constitute one of the necessities of the American home. American women will read with special interest the following from Senator Simmons (Dem., N. C.), which shows up simply one of the many points of attack which the Republican tariff makes upon the American housewife. In a speech recently, Senator Simmons said:

"I have taken the duty on gingham. That is an average, I believe of 48 per cent. The initial duty would be 30 per cent. That is 42 per cent. Then add the dye duty, and you have 5 per cent more. That would raise it above the maximum. It could not go higher than 45 per cent; but the compensatory duty on account of the Egyptian cotton is not embraced in that limitation and the compensatory duty according to the calculation that I have here, made by the expert, would amount to 4 per cent if there was Egyptian cotton used in the cloth, which, added to the 42 per cent, would be 49 per cent, as against 20 per cent under the present law."

As cotton cloth can be made more cheaply in America than in any other country in the world, and there can therefore be no reason for the tariff except to enable American manufacturers to tax the American home, the special hardship and iniquity of this tariff on gingham becomes apparent. The above, however, covers only a single item. The tariff on cotton is intended to increase the price on all kinds and all kinds and grades of this universally used product. In anticipation of the passage of this measure prices have already been advanced.

Erskine Dale-Pioneer

By JOHN FOX, JR.

Distinctly a Cooper character is this highly interesting frontiersman-trapper, hunter, guide, soldier—in whose veins flowed the undiluted blood of Virginia's proudest, but whose boyhood had been spent entirely among the Indians.

Erskine Dale spoke a little French, less English, but was fluent in the Shawnee dialect when fate called him back to the home of his ancestors. We witness a surprising unfoldment of the character and ability that had been submerged by his savage training. He speedily became more than a match for the gallants of the time—Colonial days—in every sort of contest, even to the winning of hearts.

It is a stirring tale of romance and adventure in pioneer times, especially commended by its fine patriotism.
